TITLE: ECHOES OF TOMORROW
ARTIST: LIRA MBEKI
MEDIUM: OIL AND ASH ON RECLAIMED WOOD
YEAR: 2025

A haunting yet quietly optimistic piece, Echoes of Tomorrow explores the tension between decay and renewal. Created with oil paint blended into the charred remains of forest ash, the work is layered onto panels of salvaged wood—each knot and imperfection part of the story. Abstract forms suggest ruined cityscapes dissolving into fluid, dreamlike horizons. At the centre, a faint glimmer of gold leaf draws the eye forward, a deliberate gesture toward hope. Mbeki's use of materials speaks not only to environmental fragility but also to the resilience of human imagination in the face of ruin.
